INVISIO Headsets and SAVOX Communications announces sales and product co-operation

- INVISIO Headsets and SAVOX Communication today announces that they have made an agreement for a sales and product co-operation
- The agreement means that INVISIO headsets will be sold and promoted in SAVOX sales channels and SAVOX PTT's (Push to Talk) will be sold and promoted in INVISIO sales channels.

INVISIO Headsets is strengthening its product portfolio and global leadership position by entering into a mutual distribution agreement with SAVOX Communications for distribution of INVISIO Headsets along with SAVOX push to talk solutions. The agreement means that both companies will sell and distribute certain of each other's products to create new strong product solutions. This will give both companies the opportunity to enter into new markets by leveraging the recognition of INVISIO and SAVOX products in their respective fields.

“SAVOX Communications is a leading provider of advanced PTT's and communications solutions for safety apparel and equipment used in hazardous jobs” says Lars Højgård Hansen, CEO INVISIO Headsets. “By combining their PTT's with our industry leading in-ear headsets we can create new combined product solutions in order to meet the advanced communications needs of fire fighters, rescue teams and police forces across the globe” Hansen ends.

“SAVOX Communications acknowledges and values INVISIO Headsets and their top-quality in-ear headsets. The co-operation of two specialized companies brings new opportunities and innovative solutions for demanding professional use. With this strategic partnership, SAVOX Communication is increasing the compatibility of its products especially in military use”, states Aku Salmi, Vice President SAVOX Sales.
