INVISIO Headsets CEO Lars Højgård Hansen says: "Our participation in the leading Exhibitions and Trade Shows is a key element in our focus on growing our business area for professional headsets. We recently participated in the TETRA World Congress in Hong Kong, and the Eurosatory in Paris, with great success. The PMR Expo is a very important venue for us in order to meet new potential customers and partners within the various professional agencies attending this event."

At the exhibition INVISIO Headsets will launch a new range of headsets. Mark Orton Sr. Product Manager at INVISIO Headsets comments: "We are very proud to launch an entire range of heat and flame resistant in-ear headsets. The new range of fire resistant in-ear headsets is based on our industry leading M3 and M4 product line. The flame and heat resistance feature is also available on the INVISIO range of fully submersible headsets alongside the recently launched in-ear hearing protection headsets"

The heat and flame resistant headsets in the new product line are available now. The headsets are built to withstand operating temperatures of 235 degrees Celsius and heat flashes of 300 degrees Celsius.
